Music Suggestions for Moravian Music Sunday 2024

This year's theme, In All Things, Love, lends itself to multiple interpretations. From literal uses of "love" to celebrations of community, forgiveness, and other signs of God's love for us. As a result, there are many possibilities when it comes to music to perform.

Organ Music

The Moravian Music Foundation has published a significant body of music for organ or piano based on Moravian tunes. We encourage you to consider these for Moravian Music Sunday. For specific contents of collections, please visit the website:

Choral Anthems

For potential anthems, the Moravian Music Foundation offers two possible avenues to explore: the Star Anthem Series (modern editions) and the lending library (out-of-print editions).

Star Anthem Series:

There are many works, both historical and modern, that can be found for purchase as part of this collection. For this year's theme, you may wish to consider the following:

- For God So Loved the World | Moravian Music Foundation
- Live In Harmony | Moravian Music Foundation
- God's Gifts | Moravian Music Foundation

Depending on the direction that you take the theme, you may find many other suitable works here:

Lending Library:

There are also many out-of-print works that are available to borrow for free. One work that you may want to consider for this year is J. F. Peter's "The Love of God is Shed." A full list of items available for use may be found here: Lending Library | Moravian Music Foundation

We are also available for consultations, suggestions, or questions. Please feel free to reach out to Chris anytime (christopher@moravianmusic.org).
